

With the right skills, wasteful habits can be replaced by eco-friendly routines, leading to a more productive work environment and good news for your bottom line. The Random Acts of Green® workshop is an interactive discovery session that will give students the practical tools to take green action for better environmental impact.

What will you learn?

By the end of the workshop, you will be able to:

- Reveal opportunities and eliminate barriers specific to sustainability on your campus.
- Apply new understanding of green habits and their importance.
- Use social media to communicate your sustainability efforts and successes.

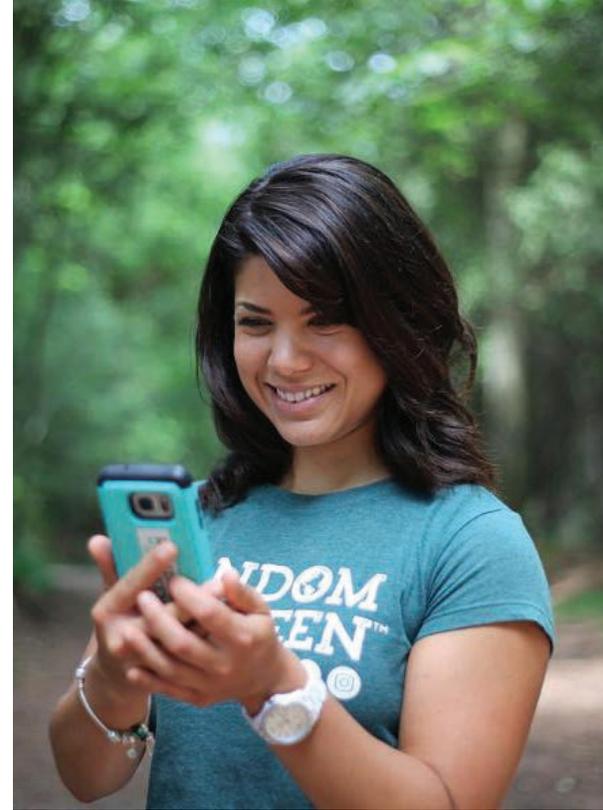

“The Random Acts of Green® workshop helped us feel like we are making a difference by measuring what we’re doing. And, we love catching people in Green Acts and sharing it out for others to learn too!”

Applying green solutions for our changing world—and your campus—so you can walk the walk of sustainability.

The Random Acts of Green® workshop is designed to challenge and inspire people to:

- Explore and assess your eco-friendly behaviours and plan to both measure and showcase your greener side working with the new, innovative Random Acts of Green® app.
- Examine the key areas on your campus for developing ecofriendly habits and shift your processes to minimize carbon emissions and eliminate the use of natural resources.
- Collaborate on a 'green' challenge to problem solve:
 - How students can engage in sustainable practices while living a normal life and saving money!
 - How sustainability should be communicated internally and externally to increase its value within your campus culture.
 - How to successfully influence positive collective behaviours.

The Random Acts of Green® workshop, led by founder and CEO Jessica Correa, can help you accelerate your efforts to improve your environmental, social and financial performance.

Random Acts of Green is a social enterprise whose mission is simple, yet ambitious: to reduce greenhouse gas emissions through individual behaviour changes. Why? Because climate change is everyone's problem, and we all can be part of innovative and creative solutions. We're proving to people that seemingly small daily choices make large collective impacts, so that we can all make a difference where and when we can—starting now.
